

LEADERBOARDS EXPLAINED

2020 COMMUTER CHALLENGE MAY 3-16

HOW LEADERBOARDS WORK:

- The Way to Go! Missoula Leaderboards are based on the percentage of "active" participants out of the total number of employees at your workplace. A user only needs to log one trip by carpool, bike, walk, telecommute, compressed workweek, vanpool, or bus to be counted as "active".
- The Leaderboards track the percentage of DAYS (not trips) that your team members logged sustainable trips out of the total number of days that they COULD HAVE logged sustainable trips - which is 10. The number of team members used to calculate percentages is the total number of ALL employees at your workplace - so even the ones who do not have Way to Go accounts are being factored into calculations.
  - For example: an organization has 10 total employees, there are 5 legible days in the week and 4 of them log each day. The network would then have  $(4 \times 5) / (10 / 5) = 40\%$  participation for the week.

WHEN LEADERBOARDS MATTER:

- Remember, if there is only 1 Team in a size category that achieves All-Star status (a.k.a. gets every single person at the workplace to log a trip) then that team WINS their size category and the Leaderboards do not matter. But they are fun to look at and show some pretty impressive stats!
- If a size category has more than 1 team to achieve All-Star status, or if none of the teams in the size category achieve All-Star status, then the size category winner is determined by the Leaderboard.

NUMBER OF TRIPS LISTED:

- The Leaderboards display a number of trips associated with each person on the team. If you select a team from the list, you will see further stats calculating the impact of the total number of trips logged by the entire team.
- The numbers listed here include ALL of the TRIPS (not days) logged by the members of that team, including errands - which do not count towards the challenge. These numbers ARE NOT used to calculate Leaderboard standings.
